

WE WANT PEOPLE WHO:

1. LOVE JESUS.

This is easy to say and harder to live out. Your love and dedication to Jesus should be evident at all times: In private, with family, at work, school, or online (including social media). This does not mean we are looking for perfect people, but you should be consistent in your faith. If you say you love Jesus, but you spend all day posting hate comments on someone's Falafel Blog, we will have some questions. If you say you love Jesus, but you hide the fact that you're a Christian from your co-workers or fellow students, then we may have found an inconsistency. We are looking for people proud of who they are in Christ, who can't wait to reflect what he has done in them out to the world.

2. ARE PERSONABLE

Nobody wants to worship with "Debbie Downer" or someone who always has something negative to say. It's ok to share our struggles with one another, but it should be to help and build one another up. You don't have to be the loudest person in the room or the "life of the party" but when people see your name on the team, they are excited to play and worship with you. You always give your best and get the best out of the people around you!

3. ARE MUSICALLY GIFTED

You know your instrument and/or voice well and are enjoyable to listen to. You understand the style of music that is being played and can adapt to the needs of the song depending on instrumentation or feel. You are eager to continue to grow and learn more and do not feel like you've "made it" when it comes to your craft. You understand that God has given you a desire and an ability and should use it to give back to him!

4. REPRESENT OUR CHURCH

Our Church is made up of many different people from age to gender to ethnic background and we want the worship team to reflect this as well. We are a community on a journey to be more like Jesus. No matter who you are, there may be someone out there in the congregation that sees you on stage and feels inspired to step out and allow God to use their gifts as well.

5. HAVE WORSHIP IN THEIR DNA

You may have your own playlists, but you can't wait for new albums and worship music to drop. You may have your own genre and styles that you gravitate to, but the rehearsal mix should not be the only worship music that you listen to on a weekly basis. You are excited about the future and dream about what worship music could look like moving forward.

6. ARE DEDICATED

We make time for the things that we value. You are the type of person that makes time for practice and rehearsals, best case scenario is you look forward to it! You are punctual and prepared so if the setlist has been out for a month and you "didn't have time" then this isn't the ministry for you. We believe God does not ask us to be perfect, but he does ask us to give him our best and this starts with preparation!
